Drought Relief Plans Hurried By President

Hoover Calls Secretary Hyde
And Experts Into Conference Today

GOVERNORS CALLED FOR CONSULTATION

Bulk Of Nation's Food Crop
Is Reported As Safe,
To President

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

RAPIDAN, Va., Aug. 9.—President Hoover today sent a hurried call to Secretary of Agriculture Hyde and James C. Stone, vice-chairman of the Federal Farm Board and the Board's expert on tobacco, to come here today and discuss plans for the Federal Government relief to the large army of farmers whose crops have been ruined by the prolonged drought.

The invitation was sent Hyde and Stone after the president had been in the White House since the secretary, who remained at the White House to receive late reports on the extent of the crop devastation throughout the country.

President Bushy
Mr. Hoover kept his telephone busy last night and a great deal this morning.

Stone has just returned from a tour of inspection of Kentucky's agricultural regions and is in a position to give the executive first-hand information.

Meanwhile Akerson told Mr. Hoover that Governors Rees and Parnell, of Kansas and Arkansas, respectively, were the first Governors of the twelve.

PA NEW OBSERVES

A lot of motorists are using Front street as a means of reaching State street from Washington street, since the traffic light was placed at Atlantic avenue and West Washington street, Pa New observes. This road while unpaved gives a short cut to State street, without the delay occasioned by halting at the traffic light.

Joseph Boyd of The News had received a letter from Frank Gray, of Louisville, which gives a new angle on the drought. The letter says that potatoes being dug in the fields at that place, are already baked, and need only to be buttered to be eaten.

Patrons of the Highland avenue car line haven't been so optimistic about the car that has been operating on the line these hot days without any window shades. The hot side of the car provides no shelter from the sun in the afternoon.

Apparently the public schools are all being painted the same color scheme—white window frames and window sills. Pa New notes that the West Side school is now emphasizing the windows and window frames, just like the Highland school.

Workmen are still busy on the construction of the conduit system for American Telephone and Telegraph Company in Union townships. The work is now being done along the road on State street extension between the city line and the repeater station.

There are certainly a lot of dogs running at large in this city in violation of the law. Officers would do well to show a little energy in enforcement of the dog laws at this time.

Weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock this morning are as follows:
Maximum temperature, 88.

River stage, 3.9 feet.

AIR MAIL SACK IS FOUND TO BE DUMMY

There was excitement galore early last evening at the home of Frank Siegel, Edinburg R. D. No. 1, west of the city, when little five-year-old John Siegel was seen approaching the home dragging with great difficulty an object, which proved to be an air mail sack with cable and equipment used by airplanes in the pickup service now in operation at Bradford airport.

The sack was carefully guarded until after supper when the bright-eyed little boy and his father started for the city police station with the find of the former. They arrived with the sack and equipment about 8:45 o'clock and told their story.

They were directed to the postoffice where a few minutes later they transferred into the hands of the representatives of Uncle Sam the air mail sack.

On being opened up it was found to be the dummy sack carried by the planes and deposited when lifting the regular air mail sack at the local pickup station at Bradford field. Although nothing of value in the way of mail was in the sack, the little boy and his father received the thanks of Uncle Sam in taking such good care of the sack and returning it to the postoffice.

The little boy had gone out to the rural mail box just previous to the evening meal to get the paper and mail, as has been his custom, and when he came on the sack, he determined to take it home and in spite of his tender years and the weight of the sack and equipment, which was considerable, he dragged it to his home.

The Siegel home is located about two miles west of the airport and it is presumed that the dummy sack was dropped by accident by the west-bound mail plane.

The eastbound plane drops a sack of mail and picks up the dummy sack at the pickup station, while the westbound plane drops a dummy sack and picks up the air mail sack leaving this city.

MAN WALKS DIRECTLY INTO MOVING ENGINE

Unusual Accident Occurs At
P. & L. E. Crossing On West Side

Large Crowd Attracted By Occurrence Near P. &
L. E. Station

Struck down by a P. & L. E. engine tender after he had walked past the lowered gate at the West Washington street crossing, Friday evening, a man was knocked to the ground, but was not seriously injured. Scores attracted by the accident surged about the trucks and engine.

The injured man was Steve Blagi, 52, of 308 Glass street. He was rushed to Jameson Memorial hospital. He sustained lacerations on the left side of the head and a cut right ear.

Gates Are Lowered
Charles Seger, R. D. 2, English avenue, the watchman, declared he had lowered the gates to permit the engine, traveling south to the New Castle Junction, to pass the West Washington street crossing. Blagi appeared on the brick station platform, having come from the east. The arrival appeared, witnesses said, to talk to himself and pointed and shouted at the engine. When he made a move to pass by the gate, Seger cried a warning.

Blagi continued to walk, and was struck as the engine came near. Jack Sheridan of 7½ West Washington street, who was in the watchman's shed at the crossing at the time, corroborated Seger's statement to investigators of the accident.

The engine had brought a Pittsburgh train to the station and was returning to the Junction at four miles an hour. Fred Neff of Pittsburgh was the engineer; J. F. Kastler was the conductor.

Reports at the hospital this morning was good. R. P. Price, railroad detective is investigating the mishap.

Central West Is Parched And Dry, Drought Continues

Water Shortage, Worst In History Of Country Continues To Menace Farm Lands

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—With prospects of relief as remote as ever, drought and heat, companion blights of farm lands, continued to parch the central states today.

The off-repeated and tantalizing forecasts of the weather bureau, "a slight possibility of scattered showers," was reiterated for today and tomorrow, but no appreciable rainfall was in sight.

The water shortage, described as the worst in history, continued to menace both crops and livestock. With small streams and wells already dry, larger streams and rivers are showing signs of drying up, and such serious measures as driving stock herds to the spots where water is plentiful, such as the Mississippi and Missouri rivers and the Great Lakes, are being considered unless rain falls soon.

Infestation Of Japanese Beetle Is Found Here

Government Scouts State
That New Castle Will Be Placed Under Quarantine

FIND DREADED PESTS ON W. NORTH STREET

Ask Local Residents To Be
On Lookout For Insect
On Grape Vines

What is termed a regular infestation of the dreaded Japanese beetle, was discovered by Josh Randolph, government entomologist, with a party of field scouts from the U. S. department of agriculture here yesterday, and as a result the New Castle district will be placed under quarantine next year, Mr. Randolph states.

The discovery was made at the home of Mrs. Sarah Murdock of 106 West North street, the party of scouts having gone to that district yesterday where they were inspecting grape vines of residents along the street.

Capture Three Insects.

Two males and one female were found, and another was seen but got away from the men. The missing insect is believed to have been a female, as they travel in pairs, according to the government field scouts.

They had gone to the North street district because it is situated close to the P. & L. E. railroad tracks, the railroad being the most common carrier of these pests, the government men stated. The spot where the insects were found is only about 200 feet away from the railroad.

This was the first instance of an infestation of the insect having been found west of Altoona, Mr. Randolph states, although scattered insects have been found in Pittsburgh, but not in a group, which would indicate any breeding.

Because of the fact that indications pointed to their having been here for some little time, Mr. Randolph stated that the district will be placed under quarantine next summer, as the eggs the females have laid this year will not hatch out until next summer.

Destructive Pest.

The Japanese beetle is one of the most destructive pests which has been introduced into this country in years. It is usually found on grape vines, where it eats away the leaf from the top, leaving the tough veins of the leaf exposed. This action is an almost certain indication of their presence, Mr. Randolph stated this morning, and residents of this vicinity are asked to examine their grape vines closely to see if others may be found.

After the pest has spread in numbers, it attacks fruit trees, rose bushes, shade and ornamental trees and mulberry.

MULLENTOWN SCHOOL REUNION ON TUESDAY

Next Tuesday the former pupils of the old Mullettown school, West Side, will hold their first annual reunion and from indications it will be largely attended. The bell on the West Side school building will ring at 9:30 o'clock when the former pupils will meet. The morning will be spent in social intercourse and renewing old friendships. At noon the scene of action will be transferred to Lakewood park where dinner will be served and the afternoon will be spent as only old timers know how.

There will be singing and games. Songs that were sang in school in the old days will be sung and old time games will be played. Leap frog, foot and a half, duck and davy, London lou will be indulged in.

In the old days singing was not taught in the schools but many of the pupils possessed beautiful voices and many were the solos Friday afternoon. Many of these old songs will be re-

By Central Press
BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 9.—Henry L. Mencken, 50, militant bachelor who avers that "church weddings, in fact most weddings, are primitive orgies in the worst state," says with a laugh that he will have a wedding Wednesday, Sept. 3, that "will be very refined." He and Miss Sara Powell

Apparently Mencken is as happy as anybody else would be at the prospect of marriage.

That the ceremony of the noted critic and editor to his writer-fiancee will be without trills is conceded.

COURT REFUSES APPEAL FOR NEW COURT TRIALS FOR IRENE AND DAGUE

Prisoners Remain Stoical As Court Passes Sentence
This Morning

STILL HAVE HOPE OF FURTHER APPEAL

Actual Date For Execution
Will Be Up To Governor
Of State

The long black shadow of the electric chair crept a little closer to Irene Schroeder, the Gun Girl and her paramour W. Glenn Dague today. Standing before Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand in the Lawrence County Court this morning, the slayers of Corporal Brady Paul heard the sentence that formally commits them to the chair at Rockview Penitentiary. One more step in the long process of law had been completed, and between them and the chair there is but two more possibilities, the State Supreme Court and the Pardon Board. Before passing sentence Judge Hildebrand refused their motions for new trials.

The usual complaisance marked the notorious pair as they took their sentence. One expected nothing else from them, for since the day they were captured in the foothills of the Oestrella Mountains in Arizona, they have exhibited a brazen defiance that seems certain to last until that cold gray morning when the law exacts its toll.

Nothing To Say
As each of them stood up with their counsel, Attorney Thomas W. Dickey, they were asked the usual question by the court, "have you anything to say," and their answer was "no." Asked if he had anything to say, Attorney Dickey said "not at this time."

Dispassionately, Judge Hildebrand then pronounced the sentence. In this case it was the "sentence of the law" and not "the sentence of the court" for in the case of first degree murder, it lies with the jury to determine the penalty of the crime, and the jury in both cases decreed that they should die in the electric chair.

There were no dramatics in the court room as the opinions were handed down and the sentence passed. It might have been an ordinary piece of court business so lacking in any color or drama was it. The dramatic element was there only by inference for peering out of the distance was a stark, sombre chair, whose occupants leave it only after life is extinct.

There may have been something of this spectre in the mind of Irene

Reeves' Dam Is Near Completion

Reeves Indicated Today City
May Have Municipal Pool
Next Year

Reeves dam in Neshaunock creek may be finished to permit swimming this afternoon, according to the progress being made by members of the department of streets and swimmers who are building the dam above the North street bridge.

Early today bags filled with dirt and held in place by heavy stones were laid across the creek and the water started to collect. An opening in the center of the dam wall will be closed. The water is two feet deep, but will increase in depth when the dam farther up the creek is opened.

Councilman Reeves today indicated that next year he would endeavor to have the city install a municipal pool here.

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 9.—Been reading a lot lately and seeing movies of the French evacuating the Rhine.

That's all fine away over in Europe, but what about the Republicans evacuating the south? They have been holding down foreign territory for two years.

This being an off presidential year, the Democrats look great. The Republicans always look bad on three years out of four. But the year they look good, is election year.

I've thought of a patriotic act, which will cost me some money no doubt, but we need the rain and it seems to me, it's the only avenue out. Every time that I pay for the car getting washed the rain follows soon without fail, so the thing to do now is to get the car washed and sacrifice some little kake. But the succotash farm is as dry as a bone and the corn looks as though it would die and tomatoes and beans have a sad looking air, they're thirsty and dusty and dry. So my duty is clear, though the weather is hot it's ninety eight, too warm by far, so I'll have to get busy and save all the crops, and have the man scrub up the car.

Troop F Battles Forest Fires And Saves Large Woodland From Flames

(Special To The News)
CAMP STEWART, MOUNT GRETNA, Aug. 9.—Troop F, New Castle National Guard, was complimented here by army officials for saving a large woodland by ending a forest fire which had started as a result of the drought.

Rain has not visited the district for five weeks, making the place so dry that it has resulted in a large fire.

Second Lieutenant George F. Mitchell and seven enlisted men are now on the sick list in Troop F.

Drought has brought a danger of forest fires within the camp reservation. Two fires have already been fought by the guardsmen and another conflagration may start any time. The first fire was stopped only through the efforts of the New Castle troop. The troop was on the drill field at the time when a fire was noticed a short distance away at the edge of a large woods.

Major Samuel B. Wolfe issued orders and First Lieut. Harvey G. Buttrick, commanding Troop F, brought his men into the fire area for immediate action. Saddle blankets were removed from the mounts and were employed to combat the flames. The troop was complimented for the fast work in ending in the blaze, resulting in the saving of a large woodland.

DROUGHT RELIEF PLANS HURRIED BY PRESIDENT

states most seriously affected by the lack of rain. To acknowledge his invitation to go to Washington Thursday to discuss plans for Government relief.

Plan Relief Campaign
WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—The Hoover administration will lead a campaign for relief of millions of drought-stricken farmers and at the same time stands ready to combat profiteering in foodstuffs in the great industrial centers of the nation.

This assurance was given today as official and private agencies continued investigations to aid the president in formulating a definite relief plan at a conference with 12 Governors next Thursday.

Despite the seriousness of the drought both the President and secretary of Agriculture Hyde have declared the bulk of the nation's food crop is safe.

Reports Exaggerated
Exaggerated reports of near-famine in dairy products and canned goods already have paved the way for profiteering, it is declared. The administration is believed to be ready to invoke the powers of the Department of Justice to halt profiteering, if necessary.

Mr. Hoover's relief proposal, still subject to change when more accurate information is received, places the responsibility for aid in the drought-stricken sections primarily upon the business men and farmers of those states and areas.

Although the Federal Farm Board had intermediate credit banks are ready to loan funds to purchase feed for starving livestock. The requirement that good security must be obtained has restricted the Governor's power to aid.

Financial Aid
In calling the Governor's to Washington, Mr. Hoover made it plain that local and state organizations must be formed to prevent actual suffering. Advance of funds to farmers to purchase feed is to be the first major effort. Voluntary contributions and the American Red Cross may be relied upon to prevent actual suffering.

A certain concern engaged in reclamation entered into a contract with the city, permitting the company to pick over collected ashes, street sweepings and refuse of that city, centered at a certain number of dumps for a certain period of time. For this privilege the city was to be paid by the company a certain amount of money every week. But for some reason the city failed to supply the specified number of dumps. Some were not quite ready on time, and those that were ready were quite some distance farther than the contract said that they would be.

However, the company went along with its part of the agreement, making its weekly payment each time, but serving notice that it reserved the right to demand damages for the city's failure to live up to its contract.

And so this went on for some time, until one day the company informed the city officials that they had decided to rescind the contract and immediately after that the company filed suit against the city.

In the trial the city had contended that the company had no claim, since it was the company that rescinded.

"Being married" comments Mencken "with all one's friends about you is as private and discriminating as eating in the window of a restaurant."

The announcement of the engagement was made by Mrs. John Anton Haardt, Miss Haardt's mother, of Montgomery, Ala., former home of Miss Haardt, and where she was visiting at the time of the announcement.

The engagement announcement was simultaneous with word that Miss Haardt's first novel, "The Making of a Lady," soon would appear.

Miss Haardt first came to Baltimore in 1916, after finishing a course at the Margaret Booth school in Montgomery. She was graduated in 1920 from Goucher College, receiving the Phi Beta Kappa key for the excellence of her academic work.

In 1921 Miss Haardt returned to Baltimore for three years of post-graduate work at the Johns Hopkins university.

Began Writing
Due to serious illness, Miss Haardt was unable to present herself as a candidate for a Ph. D. degree. She returned to Montgomery remaining there for a year and a half. It was during this period that she began writing. Virtually her first articles went to the Baltimore Evening Sun, of which Mencken was an editor.

Returning to Baltimore in 1926 Miss Haardt made writing her profession. She became a regular contributor to "highbrow" magazines. In addition, she was the author of the "Jelly-Bean" stories known chiefly by college students.

by Irene Schroeder, leaving little Donnie Schroeder and Tom Crawford in the car. As they got out of the car, Irene Schroeder opened fire, according to eye witnesses. Brady Paul fell, mortally wounded, while Moore was stunned by a bullet which clipped his nose and another which hit him on the top of the head. Getting back into their car the bandits drove to Adams street where they held up Rev. Horton and stole his automobile from him and then sped on to Wheeling, W. Va. An alarm was raised which called out police officers in three states but nothing was heard of the bandits until on December 31st, when Marshal Moran of the Bellaire, O. police found little Donnie Schroeder. At this time it was only suspected that Irene Schroeder was the woman wanted in the case.

Boy Convicts Mother
State police went down to Bellaire, O. and as he saw them Donnie shouted "my mamma shot two cops like you." With this lead, the chase then settled itself into a hunt for Irene Schroeder, her paramour, W. Glenn Daguerre and her brother Tom Crawford.

A few days later a policeman was nearly killed in St. Louis, Mo. and it was thought that Irene and her gang were responsible. Still later, a deputy sheriff Joe Chapman was kidnapped in Florence, Arizona, and coming to Chandler, Arizona, a gun battle was held between the bandits and Deputy Sheriff Leo Wright and Butterfield, Wright was wounded and died later.

Sheriff Charles Wright of Maricopa County, Arizona, called out a posse of cowboys, Indians and deputies. Finally the bandits were trapped in a gulch in the desert. Mortalities about 21 miles from Phoenix, Arizona, and facing death, Irene, Glenn and Joe Wells, another bandit, came out and surrendered to an Indian, Leon Sundust, and Deputies, Hance, Corcoran and Rhoades.

County Detective H. Martin Lee, stationed by county at state of officers went to Phoenix, Arizona, and returned Irene and Glenn in the March term of court they were tried for murder in the first degree, the jury in each case returning a verdict of guilty, with the death penalty.

First For Hildebrand
For Judge Hildebrand the sentences today were the first death sentences he has passed since ascending the bench in January 1925. They are the first death sentences to be passed in Lawrence County since 1922 when Verne Bryant was sentenced to death, and in the case of Irene Schroeder, the first woman ever to be sentenced to death in this county and about the tenth in the State of Pennsylvania in all its history.

Although sentences have been passed, Irene and Glenn will not be taken to Rockview Penitentiary for electrocution until about two days before the date which will be set by the governor. In the meantime the case will undoubtedly be heard in the Supreme Court at its Pittsburgh session which opens on September 29th. Should the Supreme Court refuse a new trial, an appeal will likely be made to the Pardon Board and it seems improbable that this could be done before the November session of this body.

Should this body refuse any clemency, Governor John S. Fisher would then set a date for the electrocution, which would be on some Monday morning at seven o'clock. The probabilities are that Irene and Glenn would not be taken to Rockview until the Friday after the next, immediately preceding the electrocution.

Following the governor's setting of the date of electrocution, a special guard will be placed over them in the Lawrence County jail. Until that time their status here will be the same as it has been since they were first brought back from Phoenix, Arizona.

LAWN PARTY HONORS
MRS. J. C. LEONARDSON

The lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Short on Winter avenue, brilliantly lighted, was indeed a fitting setting for the lawn party held there last evening when they entertained a group of 35 guests honoring Mrs. John C. A period of Tom Thumb golf opened the evening's program, which proved most entertaining, and later card tables were arranged outside, where a card game, bridge and 500 being chosen, was in progress. At the conclusion of play the hostess, assisted by the Misses Helen Cromie, Gladys Erwin, Marjorie Watkins, Mina Johnson and Mrs. Leonardson, served a delicious lunch. GARY COOPER
AT THE PENN

Beautiful Portrait of This Romantic Actor Will Be Given Way to the Ladies Monday.

Gary Cooper, the lanky and handsome young man from Montana who scored heavily with audiences as "The Virginian" and "The Texan," heads the program at the Penn theatre, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in "A Man From Wyoming," which all serves to give additional proof that Cooper is a sterling actor no matter where his picture titles seem to have him coming from.

"A Man From Wyoming" is the story of a young engineer who hears the call to arms and leaves a construction job in Wyoming to get into the big fight in France. While stationed at a "hot" corner with his company of Engineers he meets a young society girl who, tiring of the tedium of her ambulance-driver job, wanders into the line in search of excitement.

You know what Sherman said about war! "The Virginian" mixes love with war! And makes a lot of thrills for you in "A Man From Wyoming." Gary Cooper's greatest hit, "Loretta Young and Don't Fairbanks, Jr.," in "Loose Ankles."

HONORED FRIDAY
WITH GATHERING

The retiring District Deputy President of the Rebekah Lodge, Lucy M. Pettitt, was honored Friday evening at her home on Warren avenue when members of the installing staff gathered in surprise fashion.

After an informal social hour had been enjoyed, the guest of honor was presented with a beautiful service pin of the order for her continuous membership for a period of 15 years. Dainty refreshments were later served by the installing staff at a table prettily decorated in pastel tones centered with a bouquet of garden flowers.

City Fire Loss

Small During July

Damage Of Only $420 Shown According To Report Of Fire Chief Lynn

Although 45 alarms were answered by the various fire companies of the city during the month of July, the city proper showed a fire loss of but $420.

A total loss of $9,570 was sustained in alarms answered by the department, Chief Lynn states, but two fires which occurred outside the city, in which the homes burned to the ground, resulted in a loss of $9,150.

There were three calls answered by local apparatus outside the city limits during the month. Truck B of the Central department answered the most alarms of any of the city fire wagons, responding to 17 calls. Number Four department was next with six.

T. E. and Ray Smith of New Castle, real estate brokers, have filed suit in the common pleas court of Mercer county, to recover the sum of $500 alleged due them on a real estate deal completed last summer.

In their petition, they allege that they were commissioned by Sherman and Charlotte Matlock of Jefferson township, Mercer county, to sell or trade their farm for city property. A deal was effected whereby the farm was exchanged for property owned by Mrs. Ann Terry of Sharon.

Their commission amounting to $500 is unpaid, they claim, and suit is being brought as a result.

Crime Never Pays

DROUGHT CURTAILS INSECT BREEDING

THE Department of Agriculture in a bulletin on the common house fly, sometimes called the typhoid fly, warns us that, while the continued dry spell checks the breeding of this dangerous insect, the weather also incites it with greater determination to enter homes in search of food. If its rate of increase is curtailed by the drought there is at least one compensation for the aridity which afflicts the country.

Probably the mosquito is subject to the same vicissitudes of birth control. But the ugly fact about the mosquito is that decimating the species does not reduce the virulence of attack.

Eugenists plead for a less numerous human race on the theory that hereditary qualities can be concentrated in that way. The mosquitoes prove the case. It is terrifying to think what havoc might be wrought by the sole offspring of a mosquito mother limited herself to an only child.

FREE SPEECH

Arthur Garfield Hays, defender of civil liberties and conspicuous figure in several recent tilts between liberal elements and their oppressors, is quoted as saying "freedom of speech in this country is no more."

The liberal and liberty-loving lawyer exaggerates conditions which do not justify his pessimism. He places too much stress on isolated cases of suppression of free speech and abridging of the rights of the citizen. Attempts have been made in this country to regulate public discussion and there have been times when success crowned these efforts of the intolerant, but these successes have been sporadic and short lived.

If there were no freedom of speech in the "land of liberty" there would not be the general and indignant discussion that is invariably aroused throughout the land every time some too zealous or too imaginative local official claps a citizen into the local bastle for expressing an opinion contrary to that of his persecutor.

Free speech is the keystone of liberty and the central pillar supporting the arch of self-government in this country. The American people are fully aware that as soon as they lose the right of expressing their views on political and other questions they will cease to be free and self-governing people.

THE LADIES WIN, AS USUAL

Without waiting to hear from the couturiers of Paris, American manufacturers of women's suits and dresses have decided that skirts for the coming season shall remain as they are. That is to say, skirts for daytime or street wear will continue to be short, while those for evening wear will touch the floor provided the ladies choose to have them as long as that.

The decision thus announced is the product of bitter experience. There is no exact record of the number of millions of dollars lost last year in the manufacture of dresses in styles which American women did not want and would not buy. The manufacturers admit, however, that the loss was larger than they wish ever to incur again. And they are convinced that American women will not give up short skirts simply because Paris decrees that long skirts shall be the fashion.

Why should they? On most women short skirts are becoming, and to all they afford a degree of comfort, safety and freedom not to be had in the street-sweeping garments that Paris would like to resurrect.

KANSAS STANDS BY PRESIDENT HOOVER

Put to the test, Kansas Republicans have stood by the Hoover administration and the Farm Board. They have defeated at the primaries, by a very considerable majority, Governor Reed, who fiercely assailed the board and its policies. That means that they have refused to listen to the farm agitators who pretend to believe that the law of supply and demand can be beaten by congressional enactments of an artificial nature. They have nominated, also by a large plurality, Senator Allen, who now occupies his seat by appointment. Allen is a firm defender of the Hoover administration.

The test is considered a real one in Kansas itself as well as in Washington. Kansas is a great wheat producing state. If the farmers of that commonwealth are not conversant with the grain situation, surely no others are. Governor Reed in his campaign was bitter against the Farm Board. The majority of his constituents do not sympathize with his attitude. Every nostrum that the professional friends of the farmers have prescribed has been fully discussed. Equalization fees, debentures, bounties and the purchase of huge amounts of grain by the Farm Board have been exploited until they are threadbare. But Republican Kansas places its hope in the Farm Board.

Then there is the tariff. Democrats and Radical Republicans are expecting to make a serious issue of it. Well, Kansas has its chance to repudiate the new duties by visiting its wrath on Senator Allen. It did no such thing. It endorsed Allen, who had refused to be influenced by Norris, Blaine, La Follette and the others of their ilk from the grain belt who had fought the bill to the end. He voted for it.

From the administration viewpoint Kansas is alright. There seems to be no doubt where she will stand in November.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

On Far Long Island.
12 For One, One For 12.
A New Great Flier.
Psychology, Perhaps.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1930, King Features
Synd., Inc.)

This is written on the 7:20 a. m. train from Montauk for Eastern end of Long Island reaching out into the Atlantic Ocean toward Europe. That piece of the United States interest all Americans, for there, probably you will land from your trans-Atlantic flying machine coming back from Europe.

That far end of the island, which is now made into a playground by Carl Fisher, who created Miami Beach, will be the great American city "Nearest to Europe" some day. At present Mr. George Le Boulle's excellent "Cannon Ball Express" takes you there in a little over three hours. But while Mr. Le Boulle is still a young man, he will be running airplanes out there less than half an hour.

You leave Manhattan Island, with the temperature at 90. Three hours later, at Montauk, with the wind coming at full sweep from the ocean, you find it too cold to sit comfortably out of doors.

Not a place for little people to buy lots, too long to hold it. But a big chance for big people foolishly eager to spoil their children with unnecessary wealth.

Charles Cunningham, born at Sag Harbor, nearby, conductor, who collects the three railroad tickets that you must buy in order to have a room and work on the train, says: "Pleased to meet you. I was telling you yesterday about a piece you wrote two years ago when you said: 'Now there are 12 jobs for every man, but the day will come when there will be 12 men for every job; so take care of your money while you have it.' I guess some of them wish they had taken your advice."

Probably some do, but it is not too late. Good times and prosperity will come back, and men now out of work will not be out of work long.

The country is the world's richest, and its wealth is not one-tenth developed.

Capt. Hawks, who stands out now as THE GREATEST AMERICAN FLIER, left New York at 6 o'clock in the morning, eastern daylight time, landed in Los Angeles at 30 minutes past 4 p. m., Pacific Standard Time. Keeping an appointment to play golf, at the edge of the Pacific, after leaving that morning the edge of the Atlantic was less than 15 hours, and he made five stops for gasoline. That will not be necessary in future days, with better machines and better fuel.

Thomas A. Edison says our "depression is largely psychological." Henry Ford says "too many of us are looking for a Santa Claus" instead of getting to work.

There is some defective psychology and some Santa Claus hunting, undoubtedly, but many a man of Mr. Ford's age, 67, and younger without Mr. Ford's ability or fortune is job hunting, not Santa Claus hunting.

He goes about, his gray hair dyed a sickly black or brown, to conceal his years, and he is told "we hire younger men." No psychology there, no Santa Claus hunting, but HARD TIMES.

Germany made a great fight while the war lasted, and has shown amazing recuperation following the war, in spite of the Versailles treaty and the Allies' gold demands.

You understand that when you read "illiteracy in Berlin is only 4 per cent, least of all European capitals."

Of 28,000,000 books on the shelves of European libraries, the city of Berlin has 9,360,000, and all are serious books for students and research workers.

The highest rate of illiteracy, is at Teheran, capital of Persia, 82 per cent unable to read or write.

The motto of Danton, French revolutionist, "Audacity, more audacity, always audacity," was, until lately, the motto of all earnest prohibitionists. But never retreated, never vacillated, but said to the men in office, "Disobey us and you will be missing after the next election."

But now the representative of prohibition in New York's Republican party coos as mildly as any sucking dove, begging wet Republicans not to spoil harmony in the national party by dragging in booze.

Increasing unemployment in Great Britain encourages Tories. They find a campaign slogan "Unemployment under labor government."

More than 2,000,000 are idle in Great Britain and that fact threatens the Labor Party.

At least twice 2,000,000 are out of work in this country. But that doesn't shake our government by benevolent plutocracy.

Canadian Election Creates Differing Impressions Here

Retaliation For High Tariff In This Country Expected From Conservative Administration By Part Of Public, Though Depression May Be Reflected

Strong differences of opinion exist in this country as to whether the overturn in Canada, with the election of the Conservatives to office, will affect business on this side of the line. Tariff warfare is expected by a substantial number of people, although some comments deny that the United States will be affected. Change of political control is ascribed by some to dissatisfaction due to the depression which is shared by other countries.

Rapid response to the wishes of the voters is a subject of comment by the ROANOKE WORLD-NEWS, which concludes that it "calls attention anew to the slow process of change under the American system; and that, 'in Canada, rightly or wrongly, the people get what they asked for at the polls.' The nature of the change is pointed out by the APPLETON POST-CRESCENT, with the statement: 'So great a reversal has taken place that for the first time the solid Liberal province of Quebec has been penetrated by the opposition. This is comparable in a way to the invasion of the solid south by the Republicans in our presidential election of 1928. It signifies a profound upheaval which temporarily at least upsets many Canadian traditions and renders difficult a political forecast of the future.'

Considering various suggestions as to be of a permanent and enduring character, it must be made mutually profitable to contracting parties," that "the way to get business is not to anger our prospective customers, and most certainly it is not to deprive them of the right to buy what we have to sell. On another phase, the DULUTH HERALD is of the opinion that "as both of the great Canadian parties declared strongly for the St. Lawrence waterway, this election will not in any degree delay the beginning of work on that enterprise."

"Virtual notice of the beginning of a tariff war" is seen by the NEW YORK TIMES, which also mentions "business depression and unemployment," and the belief that "these were to many thousands of Canadian voters unanswerable arguments for a change of government," and asks: "Will the same thing work in the same way in the United States?"

"The outcome is important to the United States," is seen by the INDIANAPOLIS STAR, "so far as the fortunes of either political party are concerned. The political control of the Dominion, however, is a matter of interest to this country in the light of growing tendency among all Dominion ranks to exhibit a greater preference for British goods and to impose higher tariffs on American products. The Canadians have voiced a growing resentment over the tariff attitude of some in the United States, and the victor in this political battle, regardless of party affiliations, may be disposed to retaliate sharply for our recent tariff program."

"The result is a thundering answer to the Hawley-Smoot tariff," declares the ATLANTA JOURNAL, observing that "so complete a political overturn across our northern border has rarely been witnessed." The SYRACUSE HERALD advises that it would be gross self-deception for us to assume that the United States, the supply market nearest to Canada, will not be prejudicially affected in some degree by this legislative response to the lifting of our own tariff barriers.

The LITTLE ROCK ARKANSAS DEMOCRAT contends that "if the pledges of the Conservatives are kept, it is reasonable to expect retaliatory legislation." The KALAMAZOO GAZETTE believes that "Prime Minister King's shift toward a policy of high protection was a bit late in coming and a bit too moderate for the Canadian people." The BELLOIT DAILY NEWS argues that "the logical result to be feared is still higher Canadian duties on United States imports."

The LYNCHBURG ADVANCE fears that "the addition of a few more countries will have serious effect on the foreign trade of the United States."

That "the voters licked the party which proposed to raise tariffs against the United States" is emphasized by the SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE, with the comment: "We have all along felt sure that while other countries might not like to see us raise duties on their products they would take it out in grumbling and would not bite off their noses to spite their faces. The Canadian election backs up this opinion. The HAVRELL, CANADA ZETT sees "a triumph of the Canada First" policy and links with retaliation "a means of promoting inter-empire trade."

"Naturally we would be more prosperous," advises the CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR, "if American business could hold the American market and at the same time operate freely in all other countries. As this can not be done, it is well to remember that the American market is as big as the world market was, not so many decades ago. There is no reason why we can not be reasonably prosperous, depending chiefly upon our own resources and our own industrial genius."

The GENEVA DAILY TIMES is convinced that the overturn "will not make much difference to the United States," and the BUFFALO EVENING NEWS states: "Insofar as the Canadians increase their own prosperity and raise their wages and living standards by protective tariffs, they will enhance their buying power. If their buying power increases, the general volume of American trade with Canada, instead of diminishing, will expand. Certain lines of commerce may be affected unfavorably by the efforts of Canada to reserve the home market for home products. New lines will develop, however, and greater quantities will be consumed if the people have more money. Americans, therefore, have no reason for anxiety."

Mr. Bennett, the Conservative leader, in the judgment of the YOUNGSTOWN VINDICATOR, "will not have an easy time. It is not to be expected that anything he can do will have much effect on the 'return' of prosperity, and his tariff policy will have opposition from the very large American interest in Canada. The fact that business is likely to pick up of its own accord within the next few months will help him more than anything else."

"The beginning of the end of neighborliness" is seen by the CHAMPAIGN NEWS-GAZETTE, while the SALINA JOURNAL emphasizes the fact that "the Liberal regime, upset in these elections, was extremely friendly to us" although that latter paper thinks that "depression was a product of the depression is the theme of the ANN ARBOR DAILY NEWS, the MIAMI DAILY NEWS, the ELMIRA STAR-GAZETTE and the OKLAHOMA CITY TIMES.

THE WEARY MOTHER

The weary mother sat her crown
And slowly sewed the buttons on.
Oh, there were dances in the town
That night to which she might have gone.

And there was music sweet to hear,
And there were books she might have read.
But for a small boy sleeping near,
She chose at home to sew instead.

And then she washed his little blouse
And nicely pressed it for the morn.
The next door neighbor left her house
Her head held high, as if in scorn.
As if to say: "I go to dine
Where all is brilliantly gay,
Where silverware and glassware shine
While busy at your tasks you stay."

The weary mother dressed her child
And proudly watched him walk the street.
Upon his way to school and smiling
To see him look so trim and neat.
Her face was bright with happiness
The next door neighbor couldn't know.
She had no little girl to dress
No little boy for whom to sew.

Not much of dances long remains,
Though music sweet is good to hear.
Time quickly ends the lovely strains
The cures it soothes will reappear.
But look for little girls and boys
Towards the long and tedious night
And weary mothers find their joys
In garments trim and blouses white.

State Census Reveals Shift In Population

Lawrence County One Of Few
In State To Retain Standing Held In 1920

DECREASE SHOWN BY 19 COUNTIES

HARRISBURG, Aug. 9.—A shuffling of the counties, so extensive that only 17 out of 67 retain the same relative rank they held 10 years ago, has been effected by the 1930 census, the Associated Press compilation of district supervisors' preliminary reports reveals.

Starting from the bottom, where Forest, with a decrease of 30.83 per cent in population, has displaced Cameron as the least populous division, the general shakedown extends upward to where Delaware, showing a gain of 61.15, has advanced from thirteenth place in 1920 to sixth place this year.

Philadelphia, Allegheny, Luzerne, Lackawanna and Westmoreland have retained the first five places in the order existing in 1920, but in their wake the others have rankings differing widely from those of 10 years ago. Cambria has been displaced by Delaware in the first 10, and Lehigh has supplanted Northampton in the first 15.

The greatest advance in position was shown by Greene, which reported an increase of 35.55 per cent in population and moved from fifty-third to forty-third place. Clearfield dropped from the 100,000 class and left only 22 counties in or above that class.

All told, 48 counties showed increases while 19 reported decreases.

Lawrence county advanced one point in the standing from 1920, having stood 25th in 1920, whereas it is now 24th, only a few thousand away from the coveted 100,000 mark. Lawrence county's gain was 13.73 per cent in the last 10 years, having grown from 85,545 to 97,291.

Counties which showed losses in population were: Clearfield, Somerset, Bedford, Clarion, Susquehanna, Elk, Clinton, Tioga, Perry, Potter, Juniata, Fulton, Sullivan, Cameron and Forest.

The Way OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

WHAT DO YOU LIKE?

Children in a Scotch town, asked what kind of movies they like best, give astonishing answers. Ninety-eight per cent of the boys voted for "love films." Ninety-four per cent of the girls wanted war, murder, fighting. You never can tell.

WE DON'T FOOL THEM

Here is a man with a sense of humor, and not afraid to face facts. Says G. O. Myers, Cleveland educator, "We must at times seem very funny to our children. We parents often take ourselves too seriously but our children don't. They must often laugh at themselves at our eccentricities and egotisms. We are always wrong."

"We consider it quite proper to be rude to them, to interrupt them, to contradict them and talk back to them; but they had better look out if they try to do the same toward us."

We don't own children. They are human beings to be treated as such, given credit for what they know and what they try to do. Only the man who has never made a mistake has a right to expect his child to be as good as that.

THE FORCE OF PICTURES

Hays, picture boss, sees films, distributed all over the world, breaking down the barriers between nations. We get acquainted with each other through motion pictures. Let German, Frenchmen, Americans laugh with each other instead of at each other and we will get along.

BORNS

New York begins a drive on unnecessary noise from auto horns. The idea is to have a horn that will give adequate warning without nerve-racking din. Why not drive on the tooting morons in a long line-up?

REAL HOSPITALITY

Real hospitality is not so much doing things for your guest as it is giving him the feeling that he can do as he pleases, not bothered by your too eager suggestions. The good host isn't always out in front.

POWER

Matter, made up of atoms, is full of power. For atoms are in motion, whirling at terrific speed. Release the power of the atom and there would be enough energy in a drop of water to furnish 200-horsepower for a year. So says Eddington, Cambridge university scientist. But to get out the power it would be necessary to heat matter up to 40,000,000 degrees. So far laboratories have produced only a little warmth—a mere matter of a million degrees.

When you go camping and wish to show what a boob you are, be nonchalant; light a forest fire.

But nations won't beat their swords into plowshares while trying to beat one another into foreign markets.

TOWN DOCTOR

"DOCTOR OF TOWNS" SAYS

THINK THINGS ARE BAD AND THEY WILL BE BAD

A recent check among merchants of all sizes and kinds in a good sized Central Western city showed that the almost unanimous opinion was that the acknowledged "business depression" was due to the stock market. Yet on very good and acceptable authority it was learned that less than one per cent of these merchants ever did a dime's worth of stock market trading.

A check among the people in general of this same town showed that more than half of those contacted stated that they knew there was a depression, but could give no reason for it; they just "knew" there was one, and conducted themselves accordingly.

It is my honest, humble opinion that if an area of any section of the United States, 100 miles square, had been roped off prior to the market slump, and all information kept from the people regarding the tremendous paper losses due to the market, that that area would be doing as much business right now as was done the same period of the previous year.

The losses and resultant effect have been exaggerated, both in print and by word of mouth. For a while it was a case of the first fellow didn't have a chance—everybody wanted it to be known that he had lost the most. It got to be a game of who could tell the biggest one. Thousands jumped at the chance to use the market as an alibi to get out of doing what he was supposed to do; others used it as an alibi to keep from paying honest debts; salesmen used it as an alibi to "let down;" and millions of storekeepers jumped at the chance to use it as an excuse to get out of work, saying "there's no use trying to get business, for no one is going to buy anything."

Every little thing that anybody does that is different from what he had been doing was evidence of hard times. Mountains were made out of mole hills. Because of the cowardliness that is in us we failed to keep a stiff upper lip.

If Mrs. Jones, who has always purchased porterhouse steaks, goes into the butcher shop and for a change orders hamburger the butcher becomes scared and right away goes home to his wife and says: "Things are terrible—Mrs. Jones, who always buys porterhouse, came in today and bought only hamburger. Business is going to the dogs, so cut down on everything. Make the children wear their old clothes, cut out desserts, start doing your own washings, tell the kids they will have to walk to school and carry their own lunch or come home for it."

Right away the butcher's wife starts singing the "blues," telling all her friends that rich Mrs. Jones is buying only hamburger, and in no time at all it's all over town. The butcher's wife goes down to the department store and tells the salesperson that she can not take the dress she has laid aside because "everybody" is buying nothing but hamburger.

The other ladies who have heard the tale tell their husbands how Mr. Butcher is about to go broke, and then these merchants happen to think that Mrs. Smith, who always bought this or that, bought something else—and they get panicky, and do the same thing as the butcher.

A traveling man comes along and is asked how business is elsewhere—he hasn't been writing as many orders lately, due chiefly to the fact that he is an order-taker rather than a salesman; and he recalls that just that morning he read in the paper that the market was going lower and lower. And, although he hasn't a dime's worth of stock, he likes to think he has and makes others think he has. And he remembers, too, that the boss back at the main office has been riding him because he doesn't sell more than he did last year. He sees a good alibi for himself and says, "Well, we are bound to have a tightening up due to the market." And then business is bad.

IN NO time at all the chief topic of conversation at Service Club luncheons and other gatherings is "how tough business is, or is going to be." And right then it starts being tough.

Peter's Adventures

ANT QUEEN KNOWS THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME

Before Peter's eyes there flashed a vision of Queen Ant, frightened and panting for breath, trying her level best to get out of the way for a big hungry bird. Peter shivered.

"No wonder the Queen Ant unhooked her wings and thus avoids the temptation to chase rainbows in the skies, where she really doesn't belong, and is apt to get into trouble," remarked the boy. "However, there's one thing I can't understand. Why need a Queen Ant chase rainbows? Why doesn't she do as other flyers do, and when she wears of soaring, fly safely back home?"

"To begin with, the Queen Ant loses her way in the uncharted skies," promptly answered the working Ant. "And in the second place even if she shouldn't, every Queen Ant is taught that her place is in the anthill. Well she knows where she is to stay away for any length of time, her subjects would be angry and would punish her for her absence."

"What would they do to her?" asked Peter.

"There's no telling. Maybe they would pull off her wings instead of letting the Ant Queen unhook them herself. And this would hurt her. Or maybe they would twist her antennae. At any rate, absent without leave too long on her first flight, Queen Ant is afraid to come home and wanders farther, and farther away. When the winds blow and the rain falls she is cold, and wet, and hungry, and she can find no shelter. She spies another anthill but she dares not enter, knowing well that within lies enemies. No stranger guest is ever welcome in a neighbor's hill."

THE PROGRESS OF THE RACE
Depends upon the preservation of the spirit of reverence. Is only possible as we preserve the spirit of honest inquiry. Is in the hands of those who think ahead of the crowd. May be judged by the value each generation puts upon its children. Is seldom set forward by a generation that knows no necessity. Always awaits a leader who fears no crucifixion. Is the ultimate purpose of every man's creation.

NAME WINNERS AT P. H. C. PICNIC

Other Features Of Picnic Prove Most Attractive To Large Crowd

Never in the history of New Castle Circle, No. 5, Protected Home Circle, was a more successful annual picnic enjoyed as that of Thursday, Aug. 7, held in our beautiful Cascade Park, with ideal weather for the outing, an unusually large attendance being present. Early in the forenoon delegations from Pittsburgh, Beaver Falls, Sharon, Ellwood City and Youngstown, with a number from other cities, were on the ground for the splendid program in store for them and the event throughout proved to be the best held by the local circle for years.

The committee in charge of the arrangements are to be congratulated for their successful efforts for a great day, and include chairman, A. L. Conn, Helen Ray, Hazel Hicks, Nora McCann, Ida Patton, Mildred Back, Mary Patterson, Belle Kennedy, Lillie B. Jones, Roy Ewin, Harry Mehlman and Mr. Van Buren. Perhaps the busiest sisters throughout the day were Guardian Helen Ray, Vice President Mary Patterson and Chaplain Nora McCann and Past President Belle Kennedy, who certainly left nothing undone for the entertainment of the visitors present. At 1:30, with the program of the afternoon in order, the large crowd made their way to the pavilion, where they enjoyed the "Kiddy Kapers" by Miss Nellie Brady's wonderful dancing dolls, including the Harlequin and Columbine by Ida Mae Ellison, the Hello Baby by Ruth Hoagland, the doll dance by Ruth Chatman, waltz clog by D. Stewart, jazz dance, Helen Hume, tap dance, Betty Jayne Budamont, tambourine dance, Nedra Sergeant, acrobatic dance, Kathryn Hartuff.

The races and stunts for children and adults for prizes were other big features of the program, as follows: races for children from eight to 14 years for girls; 25-yard potato race, Hilda B. Odendörfer; 25-yard potato race, Virginia Royce; crab race, boys eight to 14 years, Gerald Brown; cracker race for boys up to 16 years, Rob. Back; balloon blowing, girls eight to 10 years, Jennie Dugan; watermelon contest, boys and girls, Harold Richardson, Thomas Cooley; adult races: balloon contest, men and women, Charlotte Back; clothespin race, Mary O'Dea; broad jump, Len Hall; pop contest, Emory Back; rolling pin race, Belle Kennedy; potato race—Mary Schneider; minute race, men and women, David Tucker; 100-yard race, men, C. W. Cramer.

With an excellent orchestra the afternoon and evening were spent in dancing and other social activities arranged by the committee and the big basket picnic of No. 5 closed as another red letter event in the history of the local circle.

Must Prove Trucks Are Not A Nuisance
Owners Lose First Round In Legal Battle Over Noisy Oil Carriers

WEST CHESTER, Aug. 9.—Twenty-five local property owners, seeking to have the Motor Mileage corporation of Philadelphia restrained from operating a fleet of heavy oil trucks past their homes, won the first step in their legal battle here.

Judge W. Butler Windle in Chester county court handed down an opinion requiring the defendant concern to prove that the operation of the trucks is not a nuisance.

William A. Schneider, deputy state attorney general, had argued in behalf of the Motor Mileage corporation two weeks ago that the local courts had no jurisdiction in the case because the operation of the trucks was legal and not negligent.

tention that the trucks are a nuisance the courts may restrain their operation.

In his opinion he says: "It appears to us that even though the defendant is operating its vehicles within the terms and conditions of the license granted by the state highway department, nevertheless it may not conduct a nuisance to persons situated as are these complainants. It is our opinion that such operation, though lawful and not negligent, must be conducted with a reasonable regard for the rights of others."

"The case is one in which there has been no precedent set by the law and its outcome will of great importance to truck companies throughout the state."

The Motor Mileage corporation is engaged in hauling crude oil from Marcus Hook to Coatesville for use in the Lukens Steel company here.

The Welsh Reunion

The Welsh reunion was held at the Koppel Grove again. On Saturday, July the twenty-sixth, for women, children and men.

The first big thing was eating, then the races began, and of course there was speaking. All this we had to plan. Rev. Wells of the Clinton Church, was present for the second time; He speaks very well of our gathering, so we couldn't leave him behind. The Koppel M. E. Church gave us a wonderful treat when they sent us Rev. Burson, a man every one wants to meet.

You have heard of the Welsh as going goats; but I think there is one that's a snake; Harry Parker the grandson of Joseph Welsh, curls in most any form you can make.

Mrs. Joseph Thorpe an old friend of the family, once more showed his smiling face; and he left us a thought to keep the bridges built, so no others may take our place.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Welsh of Erie, came as of other years, and the Greens from East Liverpool came to kiss away the tears.

It was to be a strictly dry gathering, but somehow the party got wet; when it rained down bucket fulls of water just the same, we were tickled you bet.

We hope we'll all see you next year. I'll try to let you know the time, for there may be just one more.

Welsh reunion for you. Before the reunion sublime. Secretary Ruth L. Welsh.

Officers for the next year are as follows:

Vice President Albert Welsh
Treasurer Mrs. Carl Pearson
Secretary Ruth L. Welsh
Entertainment Committee, Sarah Lanagan, Sue Welsh, Mary Welsh.

Hoover Sets Wheels In Motion To Bring Relief To Farmers

President Sets Wheels Going
To Give Drought-Stricken
Farmers Relief

Farm Board Pledges $97,000,
900 In Feed Loans—Banks
Have Unlimited
Cash Money

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—President Hoover shunted virtually all ordinary business aside Friday to set the vast governmental machine in motion to provide relief for farmers in drought-stricken areas of the nation.

The President's immediate task was to learn the actual devastation wrought and to find ways of slashing governmental "Red Tape" to make millions available in loans to farmers to save their starving livestock.

Hope Offered
While the president was engaging in rapid-fire conferences, the department of agriculture gave the first official report of drought-damage in an estimated reduction of the cotton crop, and the weather bureau offered hope for a break in the drought in the west.

Major developments of the day included:
1. President canvassed situation with three members of farm board, secretary of agriculture Hyde and drought and weather maps which were placed in the executive offices. He considered abandoning a week-end trip to his Rapidan river camp.

2. Department of agriculture estimated a cotton crop of 14,362,000 bales as of August 1, the condition was placed at 62.2 per cent of normal as compared with 70.6 per cent a year ago and a 10-year average of 67.2 per cent. Drought causing great damage from Mississippi westward.

3. R. H. Weightman, forecaster of

U. S. weather bureau, said a high pressure area appeared on the weather map in western Canada, and that cooler weather and showers generally accompanied such a condition in the plains states, upper Mississippi valley and Great Lakes States.

4. The forecast showed no hope of a break in the drought in the Central South and East sections of the country.

5. Emergency measures reported taken in scores of cities and towns to insure a water supply, water being "imported" in tank cars. Milk supply greatly reduced near big western cities.

Fund Is Pledged
Mr. Hoover held an early conference with Samuel R. McKelvie, W. F. Schilling and C. F. Wilson, Federal farm board members; Stanley F. Reed, counsel, and secretary of agriculture Hyde.

The farm has pledged its unexpended fund of $97,000,000 in feed loans, while the intermediate credit banks have potential loaning resources of approximately $225,000,000. These loans, however, can only be made on good security, and good security may be difficult to obtain in drought-stricken regions.

Mr. Hoover assumed his old role of a disaster relief expert. Weather and drought damage maps, placed in his office, were changed by him as fresh reports came in from governmental departments.

GREENVILLE, Aug. 9.—Hugh H. Prosecution was started before U. S. Commissioner William A. Broderick of Farrell through the plaintiff's attorney, Ben Marks.

The trouble is alleged to have started when the husband and former husband of Mrs. Pagel took Tate for a "ride" and administered a beating for attentions to Mrs. Pagel. The result cases were heard a few days ago in Greenville and the latter episode is said to have followed.

PARENTS WILL VISIT AT GIRL SCOUTS CAMP

All Interested Are Welcome To Visit The Camp On Sunday

Sunday is visiting day at the Girl Scout Camp at Camp Fred L. Rentz, of the Y. M. C. A. Parents of the girls in the camp are urged to make the most of the opportunity to acquaint themselves with the life the girls are living during their stay there and all interested will also be welcomed.

Activities of the camp on Friday centered about a supper hike taken by the groups or patrols from each of the seven tents housing the girls. Each group in charge of their respective patrol leaders hiked off into the surrounding wooded lands and cooked their own suppers. The repast consisted of potatoes baked in tin can ovens, weiners, marshmallows and other good things.

Return was made to the camp about 8:30 o'clock in the evening, when the usual camp fire was held and songs and other pleasant diversions wiled away the time until past.

This evening, the New Castle Council will enjoy a supper meeting at the camp and get first hand knowledge of just what the life of the girls is like.

Also, consider matters of importance concerning the operation of the camp.

Sunday will be a day of rest from all regular activities of the camp life as conducted on week days. Catholic girls in the camp will be transferred to the city to attend services, while the Protestant girls of the camp will attend church in one of the nearby churches.

In the evening a vesper service, known as the "Scout's Own" will be held.

Sleeping overtime in the camp in the morning is impossible, for one of the features of the camp life is the barking of the miniature cannon at seven o'clock, the report of which reverberates through the wooded camp site and drives all thought of sleep away.

Several Adjoining Homes Damaged By Force Of Blast; Motive Unknown

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 9.—A dynamite bomb shattered the home of Peter De Liberty in South Philadelphia early today, damaged several adjoining dwellings and broke hundreds of windows throughout the neighborhood.

The bomb apparently had been placed against the door of Liberty's cigar store on the first floor of a two-story building. It was the second time within three months that the Liberty home had been bombed.

The concussion created great excitement throughout the neighborhood. Only the timely arrival of police restored order. Liberty could give no reason for the bombing.

Illustrated Lecture At Hoover Heights

Rev. John Turnbull Will Speak
Tonight Has Interesting
History

This evening the members and friends of the Hoover Heights Tabernacle will be specially favored when Rev. John R. Turnbull, M. A. F. R. G. S. delivers an illustrated lecture in the church.

Rev. Turnbull is an interesting speaker, drawing from a vast store of knowledge and experience, having spent seven years in India as a missionary, then several in Palestine and the Arabian order Mission.

He was the first white man to cross the Arabian desert in a car; on that trip 30 men were sent out to shoot him on sight, but he was unhurt, through the grace of God. He also discovered the home town of Job.

Although hemlines, on the whole, are to be more even this autumn, some of the models dip slightly in the back.

Police Hold Pair

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 9.—Nick Carlucci, 24, of 161 Dean avenue, Conneaut, O., and Orendo Barone, 26, of 120 Gordon street, Conneaut, were brought to the Erie county jail this afternoon by state police and held for questioning in connection with the murder sometime this morning of Anthony Ruberto, 31, of 1815½ Cherry street, Erie, formerly of Conneaut.

Ruberto's body, with nine bullet wounds in the head, was found slumped over the steering wheel of his automobile on a lonely road west of the city this morning. He had been dead for several hours. Police believe that a bootlegging feud may have been the cause of the shooting.

Postpone Country Fair
Because Of Drought

GETTYSBURG, Aug. 9.—The long drought in Adams county, which was extended over 35 days, has caused the abandonment for this year of the South Mountain Fair, held annually in Union Park, near Ardenville, 10 miles north of Gettysburg.

The lack of rain and the extreme hot weather has so burned and parched vegetation, fruits and grains in the county that it will almost be impossible to assemble enough exhibits to justify the holding of the fair.

Dick Cook Suggests More Street Improving

J. Dick Cook, Locust street extension, long time resident of the city and a one time candidate for city council, has something to say about the proposition of constructing a dam in the Neshannock river for the bathers. His opinion as expressed in a communication to the Editor of The News is that instead of damming up the Neshannock Creek again, that more time should be spent in fixing up some of the streets.

His communication follows:—"We just got rid of a dam site in the Neshannock Creek. We don't wait any more. We have been nodding about this dam for fifty years and the floods that it caused. Why start everything over again."

"There's plenty of swimming places for the boys, such as the old dam site at the paper mill, Big Rock at Robinson's Island in the Shenango and another with three or four feet of water below the city water pumping station in the Shenango."

"Then there's a swimming pool in several of the schools of the city that the taxpayers have paid for and one in the Y. M. C. A. Seems to me there's plenty of places for the boys to keep cool. The fact is that half the people don't know enough to wear a hat to keep cool."

"I hope the city council will refrain from taking sides in this little controversy, other than keeping the bathers out of the creek and not allow them to annoy the neighbors."

Mayor Gillespie states that he has no jurisdiction in the matter. I don't know who has, but he and his police force do not.

Present Play
At Playground

Carnegie Children Stage Program On Friday Afternoon

The presentation of a play "Six Pass While the Lentils Boil" which was presented by the members of the Carnegie Playground on Friday afternoon in the auditorium of that playground proved a success in every detail.
The story was about a queen who was about to be beheaded for a breach of court etiquette. She escapes and comes to the home of a boy who has been left at home to boil lentils for dinner. He is sorry for the girl and hides her in his mother's room.
His troubles only begin here. For one after the other, six different people arrive searching for her, and the boy is at his wit's end to keep them from discovering her hiding place.
The boiling lentils which are never quite done, furnish him an excuse for staying right there and by clever speeches turns the visitors away one after the other from the door of her hiding place. How she stays there till danger is past and what happens to the various searches constitutes a clever plot and a fortunate ending.

Those who took part in the play are:
Queen—Maggie Thomas.
Mime—Joe Nigro.
Boy—Vincent Gallagher.
Blindman—Ray Must.
Device Bearer—Gerald George.
Milkmaid—Rose De Thomas.
The Dreadful Headman—Ray Must.
The work of all the performers is to be commended. The part of the Dreadful Headman by Ray Must was well taken care of as was the part of the Boy portrayed by Vincent Gal-laher. The other players also did their bit to help make the play a success.

Credit for the presentation of this play goes to Miss Julia Gordon, a Lake Erie College student who has been doing a month's volunteer practice teaching under the supervision of the Carnegie Playground directors.
Miss Gordon who directed the play, deserve commendation for the creditable manner in which the play was staged.

Two other plays are in preparation which will be directed by Miss Mildred Miller and Miss Katherine Mc-Millin of the Carnegie playground teaching force. These plays will be given at a later date.

Would Regulate Horns On Autos

President Gable Of State Motor Federation Sees Necessity Of Curbing Noise

Claims Average Motor Horn Is Louder Than Is Necessary For City Driving

HARRISBURG, Pa., August 9.—Regulation of motor vehicle horns in a manner similar to that applied to headlights was recommended today by S. Edward Gable, president of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, State unit of the A. A. A., as a step in reducing noise and highways of unnecessary noise.

"The average motor vehicle horn is much louder than it needs to be to give warning on city streets," Mr. Gable said. "Discordant, terrifying notes do not add to a horn's efficiency as a warning signal, either on city streets or open roads, and should be banned."

"The motor code makes it unlawful for any driver to use a horn or other warning device otherwise than in a reasonable manner, or to make any unnecessary or unreasonably loud or harsh sound by means of a horn or other warning device." Then why permit vehicles to be equipped with such devices?

The law requires that headlights meet certain specifications. It recognizes as legal only certain types of lenses, and provides that bulbs be of no greater voltage than specified by the secretary of highways. Similar regulations regarding horns or other warning devices, which could be checked at intervals by the Motor Patrol and other officers, just as headlights are, would help cut the raucous din that is giving rise to complaints all over Pennsylvania, and throughout the rest of the nation as well.

Mr. Gable said he realizes that it would not be easy to keep a close check-up on horns or other warning devices just as it is not easy to regulate headlight conditions. "If there were certain specifications regarding horns, however, a check-up on these devices could be included in the annual mandatory inspection of motor vehicles, and no vehicle inspected would be approved unless its warning device complied with the regulations," he stated. "As it is, a vehicle in Pennsylvania may be equipped with a device that emits shrill and terrifying notes, and the driver cannot be called to account unless he sounds that device in an unnecessary or unreasonable way."

The so-called horn driver and other noise-making motor vehicle operator has no place on the streets and highways of Pennsylvania and, in the interest of the general public, must be curbed. The motor car of today is a smooth-running, comparatively silent vehicle, and should be equipped with a warning device in keeping with what it represents, not with a signal that emits shrill, discordant notes that terrify."

Foster's Weather Forecast

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Storm wave of moderate force, expected to cross continent during week centering on August 11, will be expected to cause hot and dry weather generally over the continent, the last of a period of above normal temperatures expected to extend from 5 to 13, inclusive. A short period of high temperatures will be expected 18, but as this storm wave will be preceded and followed by cool waves, and precipitation will be on the increase during and following storm center, no material crop damage will be expected after passage of storm wave of 11 excepting probable hail and frost damage in northern fields. After storm wave centering on 11 has passed, general crop-weather will be expected to improve and those crops that have come thru the heat of preceding six weeks will be expected to improve their condition, excepting in the real drought area; in the drought area, dry weather with winds that probably sap the remaining moisture and plant strength will be expected to follow storm wave of 11.

One of the difficult problems of crop-weather forecasting is now being illustrated just south of the Ozark mountains; these mountains are not very high, but are projecting themselves of sufficient height to keep a pocket of hot, stagnant air just south of them while the balance of continent cools off from the influence of cool wave forecasted for last days of July and first days of August. This area, including Oklahoma, Arkansas, northeast Texas and northern Louisiana, was expected to experience decreasing precipitation May 1930 to end of season, but not the severe drought that has really held forth. To relieve this situation storm force must be sufficient to bring down the cooler air from upper strata north of the Ozarks and life the heated, stagnant air that is still keeping temperatures well above 100 degrees during the day. Storm force during last week of July was expected to accomplish this result but I see no period during the near future that promises immediate relief to this drought area, as storm force will not be of sufficient intensity until last week of August. Relief will therefore have to be gradually and slowly accomplished. I can only blame the unusual positions of those giant planets, Jupiter and Saturn, for this partial error in my forecasts. These planets reach the present stage of their cycles, relative to Sun and Earth, at such long intervals that our weather records are not long enough to show their true influence when in this strong position. After they have passed their opposition, December 15, 1930, this strong combination of their influence will soon be broken. Severe storms and earthquakes have been general over the earth during July, but did not move into the southwest on expected dates. Excepting cotton belt from Louisiana west to the Rockies these forecasts have averaged very good this season.

Upper Class Registration September 17-18

To Students Who Expect to Teach, Westminster this year offers with greater efficiency than ever that Training and Education and Psychology which has prepared so many of Her Graduates to Serve the Schools of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and many other states in Conspicuous and Distinguished Positions.

The experience of a Liberal Arts College with a Scholarly Teaching Faculty is invaluable to the Prospective Teacher.

"Westminster Pictured Through the Year", a unique brochure, just issued, tells the story.

For Information Address

The President, Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa.

What is the derivation of the expression "robbing Peter to pay Paul"? It has its origin in the rivalry between St. Peter's cathedral, now Westminster Abbey, and St. Paul's cathedral, in London. In 1550 an appropriation was made from St. Peter's to make up for a deficit in the account of St. Paul's. The action met with opposition, the question being asked, "Why rob St. Peter to pay St. Paul?"

Seven Tribesmen Reported Slain

(International News Service)
LONDON, Aug. 9.—Seven Akridi (Afghan) tribesmen were killed when Royal Air Force planes scattered a large group of raiders in the Bara valley near Peshawar, it was stated in dispatches to the evening newspapers today.

Small bands of the 10,000 Afridis hovering in the vicinity of Peshawar made small attacks through the southern part of the Bara valley, as well as on villages southeast of Peshawar, the dispatches stated. They were driven off by local troops and air force planes with ease.

The expected attack by the massed raiders on Peshawar itself, however, did not take place.

"Uncle Dave" entertained his guests during the evening with several songs, being accompanied by his daughter at the piano.

No general program had been planned for the day and for the most part, those who gathered at his home were old friends of the family. A fine chicken dinner was served during the evening.

"Uncle Dave" received many gifts from his many friends in honor of the occasion, which will be one long remembered by him.

Fire Develops In Castle Alleys

Quick Work By Firemen This Afternoon Prevent Serious Blaze

Spontaneous combustion caused by oily rags this afternoon caused a fire in the Castle Bowling Alleys, second floor of the Brown & Hamilton building, Washington street, about 1:30 o'clock.

The loss was slight, probably $150, largely due to the necessity of tearing up floors and breaking the front door of the place to get in, it having been closed.

The materials were those of the painters, who have been working in the place and the resulting fire burned down into the floor at the front of the alleys. The firemen tore up the floor in order to be sure that there was no flames between the floor and ceiling of the Neisner store on the street floor.

Smoke was seen pouring out of the building and reported to the police, who in turn called the firemen. A general alarm brought Assistant Fire Chief H. Clare Stockman and several departments.

Only chemicals of Truck A were required in putting out the fire. The firemen found it necessary to break open the front door entrance to get in, as the place was closed. The smoke resulting was dense and made it hard for the firemen to work in the place.

Machine Crashes Into Side Of House

Comes Down Steep Grade To North Street And Damages Home

Auto of Francis Grim, 317 Shaw St. while parked on quiet street last night, was bumped by the machine of Mr. Allen of the Allen Apartments and started down the steep grade of that street to North street.

It however did not maintain its course on the roadway and careened over onto the property of Louis Lindeman, North and West streets, hitting the corner of the house, and damaging the rain conductor and brick wall of the house. The machine was also damaged.

Alarm Sounded Through Error

Maybe it was so hot up around the police station early this afternoon, that the police thought the place was on fire. Someone from the police station called Central fire department stating there was a fire. Maybe it was a joke, but at any rate, the firemen took them at their word and sent in an alarm from Box 17.

Then they were told there was no fire, so none of the fire trucks answered the alarm.

Birds Return Despite Gun-Fire By Police

In spite of the warfare inaugurated by the police on Thursday night against the thousands of Grackles, kin of the American Blackbird, who have been making their habitation in the trees on Park, Boyles and Wallace avenues, in the district east of Highland avenue, the birds were back in their accustomed place last night.

The mere death of less than one-half of one percent of their number did not apparently disturb them in the least, although they were successful in disturbing the people of the district.

The offensive was resumed under the supervision of Councilman C. H. Reeves and the police again, killed scores of the birds in the big offensive made throughout the district.

Naturally more birds fell in the defense of their summer habitation and what the result will be remains to be seen, but indications are that the birds will again be back on the job tonight.

It has been suggested that the most successful means of causing these birds to move on is railroad fuses, the fumes of which appear to be very obnoxious to the birds. Whether or not this means will be tried remains to be seen.

WIFE BOMBER ASKS FOR SPEEDY EXECUTION

Murder charges have been preferred against A. D. Payne, Amarillo, Tex., attorney, shown lower left, following a confession to police that he placed three sticks of dynamite in his automobile, the resulting explosion being credited with the killing of his wife, above, and the maiming of his son, nine. Payne, held in jail at Stinnett, Tex., because of fear of mob violence, is said by police to have evolved the plot because of his love for Mrs. Verona Thompson, lower left, his former secretary. Photos show, top, the wrecked car after the explosion, and below, the Payne children, A. D., Jr., La Dell, and Bobbie Jean. Payne has requested that he "be hurried to the electric chair."

Field Club Players Pleased With Match At New Muny Course

William Nunn, spokesman, for the Field Club golfing team, had a lot of nice things to say today regarding the match played yesterday at the Municipal course.

It was the first time that many of the Field Club players had ever shot the Public Links and they were loud in their praise of the way the City has provided for the golfers of New Castle.

It's a sporty little layout and will test the best of the golfing fraternity, said a number of the boys, when they concluded their 18-hole match.

"Walter 'Hub' Hart, manager of the course was very courteous and generous to us," said Nunn, and we thoroughly enjoyed the afternoon.

Cultivate Restraints In Children

It would be reasonable to expect child psychology to aid in crime prevention. Its basic contribution is the better understanding of the child and better opportunities for his development as a personality. There seems to be some evidence of its good effects in these directions. Something else has come, however, under the guise of child psychology—a lessening of desirable restraints and inhibitions.

Ask the average person today what a child psychologist is and he will answer: "A child psychologist is a person (endowed with some mysterious wisdom) who believes in letting children do about as they please." Most of the parents who enter my course on the pre-school child at the university come believing I surely must have no place in my teaching for early inhibitions in the child. Some are nearly shocked to death to hear me, in my first lecture, bluntly announce my belief in spanking, and deliberately defend it with the confession that we consciously set out early with our own children to teach some very definite restraints.

Following my paper on Freedom and Repression, which several months ago I read before the Child Welfare association in Philadelphia, a distinguished looking gentleman arose to say he was surprised to learn that any child psychologist in America believed in physical restraint of children. He happened to be the Reverend Dr. Floyd Tomkins. "I heartily agree with you," he said. The lessening of restraint in young children is a source of our increasing crime."

We who call ourselves psychologists have been so bent upon the child's self-expression that we have almost wholly neglected his need of learning to let others enjoy self-expression. I guess I have been guilty of contributing my bit to this lopsided point of view upon child guidance. I often give a talk entitled, "Are We Building or Destroying Personality?" and in the February issue of "Childhood Education" I made a plea for relieving little children from the fears incited by adults. Frequently I lecture on "How We Parents Annoy Our Children." Most of my book, "The Modern Parent," attempts to show how our human frailties hinder healthy growth of personality and character in our children. But I must say for myself that I have a chapter also on punishment, to which I now wish I had given a larger place.

All I have said and written in the child's defense I sincerely believe. Nevertheless, the preponderance of emphasis upon his self-expression may leave the very impression which I do not wish to leave. Without some basic restraints cultivated in children very early our whole scheme of child guidance, I believe, will crumble. Instead of helping to reduce crime we may be helping to make it grow.

Just plain common sense leads us to see that the child can learn the meaning of No with least pain to him and least annoyance to all concerned in early infancy, and that the longer he goes without this education the less likely he is ever to acquire it to a workable degree.

There probably is no one good way of teaching basic inhibitions to the infant. The important thing is that he gets them early and with as little emotional disturbance as possible.

It is my belief, however, that the good old-fashioned spank by the bare hand, on the child's bare, fat thighs, is about the most effective means. Done well, all physical pain can well be abandoned before the school age.

Small Explosion At Fireworks Plant

Powder Mixing Building Is Destroyed On Friday Afternoon

Explosion occurring about three o'clock Friday afternoon and heard throughout the city, destroyed the small frame powder mixing or mixing building of the Vire Fireworks Manufacturing company, plant, on West Washington street extension, west of the city in Union township, with a resulting loss of about $200. A youthful workman in the building at the time, is reported to have escaped serious injury, making his getaway in time to avoid serious injury. The exact cause of the explosion is undetermined.

The building destroyed was about 8 by 12 feet in size and was used in preparing the powder to be used in finished fireworks. A large stone bowl is used and a wooden mallet is the medium used by the employee in mashing, as the process is called, the powder, in mixing or uniting together the powder. Only the actual ingredients needed are kept in this building and for that reason the loss was small.

Two Are Held As Result Of Booze Found In Machine

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 9.—Ray Paxter of Cleveland, and Nathan Martin, of Pittsburgh, were being held here today for alleged violation of the prohibition law following seizure of a canvas-covered automobile trailer, a motor truck, and 50 barrels of alleged high-test beer in Stowe Township last night.

Leaky barrels caused the discovery, federal agents who made the arrests stated. Paxter told authorities he had left Detroit Thursday and was bringing the cargo to this city. Martin declared he knew nothing of the contents of the trailer claiming he was given a "lift" by Paxter after "thumbing" for a ride.

Water In Bathing Pools Found Pure

Tests which have been made of the water from the lake at Lakewood Beach and Glenn's pool at Cascade park, by a local chemist, reveals the fact that the water in these two places is in very sanitary condition.

The water at Lakewood is mostly spring water and remarkably free from impurities, while the water in Glenn's pool, is drawn from the lake and sterilized before it is turned into the pool.

Although the water from both pools is slightly discolored by sediment, it is free from impurities, the tests reveal.

Indiana Seems Hardest Hit In Present Drought

Southern Part Of State Has Had No Real Rain This Summer

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 9.—Indiana, typical of the middle west agricultural states now suffering from the prolonged drought, faces the most critical economic condition in the memory of its oldest residents and nothing can be done to save it.

Nobody has a relief plan. State finances cannot shoulder the burden of the agricultural area of the state the southern half of Indiana, which has been scorched, parched, dried out, super-heated with not a drop of rain that has done any good since March 15 in extended areas.

North from Indianapolis there has been enough precipitation to assure an average crop of corn, but the excessive heat has almost "cooked" the young ears.

Farmers in the south are selling off stock for anything they can get. A good milk cow can be bought for $10.

Even Robins Fly Away
The robins have gone into conference, concluded that it is no use to try to pull worms out of Indiana and are migrating southward two months in advance of their regular schedule.

Nature seems to have turned upon herself in Indiana in a mania of self-destruction. Parents and people care about it is to pray for rain—and the rain does not come. Instead comes heat and more heat. Many towns and villages are hauling water for domestic supply.

Fruit crops are a complete failure, along with the corn and vegetables. There seems a shutdown of canneries an industry which has made splendid progress in this state in recent years.

Banks cannot help, for they are carrying farm loans to the limit even before the drought set in, with indications of serious results.

E. J. Barker, secretary of the state board of agriculture, said: "Draw a line across the state about 40 miles south of Indianapolis, and south of that you may say that crops have been a complete failure. Not one farmer in ten will be able to raise enough to carry his family and stock through the winter."

Four Local Vets Get Compensation

Claims Filed Just Before Closing Date In April, Receive Recognition

Word has been received by Secretary Orville Potter of the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, that the compensation claims of four local World War veterans have been service-connected by the Veterans Bureau, and the men will soon receive compensation.

In most of the cases, claims were filed just prior to the closing date for compensation claims in April of this year, and after reviewing the cases, compensation was granted.

An effort is being made by the Veterans Bureau now, according to the pension channel, where the applicants will receive less money, but this is being met with a determined fight on the part of the Red Cross to secure compensation under the old award.

Ruth's Hitting Wins For Yanks

Babe Ruth Clouts Ball Hard To Give Yankees Team Victory Over Brownies

BROOKLYN WINS FROM CARDINALS

BY COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Pittsburgh's ball club today was preparing to meet the Giants in the third game of a two-day series at Forbes field, hoping to be able to avenge two stinging defeats handed them yesterday afternoon in the double bill. Scores were 0 to 1 and 7 to 2.

Dixie Walker hurled the opening game for the New Yorkers and although he gave 11 scattered hits, the Browns were only able to score one tally. Meine and Chagnon hurried for the Ensigns.

In the nightcap Carl Hubbell held the Browns to four well-scattered hits, including a home run by Comorosky. Brame was on the mound for the Pirates.

Ruth Wins Game.
Babe Ruth won for the Yanks over the Browns 5 to 3 by hitting half a home run in the eighth, the blow waiting in one running and putting another man and himself in position to score, which they did eventually.

Two homers by Babe Herman and one each by Wright and Flowers stored it away, 11 to 5, for the Robins over St. Louis.

The champion A's—and it looks as if that still goes for 1930—tripped the Chicago White Sox twice. Jimmy Dykes' four-baser and Groves' hurling won the opener 5 to 1 and in the tea tilt Shores, allowing only four safeties, outpitched Ted Lyons 4 to 1.

Mighty mound work by Guy Bush and homers from Grimm and Blair furnished the Cubs a 6 to 1 triumph over the Boston Braves.

Thompson led the Phillies in a battling Poray which sent Benton to the porcelain, Philadelphia marking an 8 to 5 win over the Reds.

Hoyt, Detroit hurler, felt sorry for the Red Sox and started the game by walking the first three men and when the inning was over Boston had scored six counters. While Mr. Hoyt was under the showers the Tigers tried a rally but the Sox finally ended it 8 to 6.

Coming from the rear, the Senators lowered away Cleveland 5 to 4. Cronin's fourth hit of the skirmish scoring the winning run.

Platt-Somerville Finalists In Golf

(International News Service)
LONDON, Ont., Aug. 9.—J. Wood Platt, Philadelphia, and C. Ross Somerville, London, Ont., star, will battle it out today over 36 holes in the final round for the Canadian Amateur Golf championship.

Platt went into the final round off a 4 and 3, while Somerville won from J. Raymond Ferguson, Philadelphia, 10 and 9.

At the thirteenth hole in the afternoon round, Platt protested that Stuart had removed some twigs near his ball and after his protest had been upheld, Stuart forfeited the hole 3 to go down.

Giants Capture Double Header

Pirates Unable To Solve Delivery Of Giant Left Hand Hurlers

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 9.—The Pirates were handed an overdose of southpawism yesterday and dropped a twin bill to the Giants, 9 to 1 and 7 to 2. Walker and Hubbell were the pitchers who turned back the Pirates while Meine and Brame hurried for the Pirates and were clouted hard. Southern, the new outfielder obtained from the Phils broke into the game as a Pirate pinch-hitter. Comorosky, Roettger and Hogan hit home runs. In addition to his home run, Hogan, catcher for the Giants got two doubles and three singles in nine times at bat.

Borotra Through With Cup Play

Famous French Tennis Star Announces He Will Not Play On Davis Cup Team Again

(International News Service)
PARIS, Aug. 9.—The French tennis world today was vastly depressed by the announcement that Jean Borotra, its "bouncing Banque" was through with Davis Cup tennis. Borotra declared he would retire from Davis Cup courts "because undue importance is attached to the matches." There were hopeful indications that he would be replaced by Rene Lacoste, who recently married Mlle. De La Chaume, famed French golfer. Lacoste, who stated at the time of this marriage he would no longer play tournament tennis because of the accompanying nervous strain, remained non-committal on the persistent reports that he would step into the vacancy left on the French Davis Cup team by Borotra's retirement. To questioners he merely replied "perhaps."

"Kid" Chocolate Plans To Retire

Cuban Fighter Incensed Over Defeat At Hands Of "Kid" Berg, Plans To Quit

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Still raging at what he considers the injustice of Referee Patsy Haley, Kid Chocolate today reiterated his threat to never enter the ring again as a combatant. Charging the third man in the ring, he said he and after cast the vote that caused his first defeat in more than 150 starts to be chalked up against him, the bon bon Keed is planning to return to his native Cuba in the immediate future. The Keed has piled up a fortune of $200,000 in his meecoric career in the United States and now plans to return to Havana and marry. He will return to this country this fall, but as a bridegroom on his honeymoon and never again as a fighter. Of course when the sting of the events of Thursday night begins to wear away, the Keed may change his mind. After Luis Gutierrez has had an opportunity to explain to the ebony Cuban that after all he added more glory to his already brilliant record in his great battle with a foe who outweighed him ten pounds, the Keed may change his mind. But right now it is retirement for Chocolate.

Field Club Golfers Win Over Municipals

George Trainor, Shoots Sensational 74 Par For 18 Holes At Mundy Course

Art Prioletti Has 79—Fine Crowd Watches Public Links Against Field Club

George Trainor, emulating that renowned personage, Bobby Jones, led the New Castle Field club golfers in their victory over the municipal team in an 18-hole match played over the city course yesterday afternoon. The Field club won eight matches, the municipal one, and one was tied. Trainor held the spotlight all afternoon with his terrific driving and his sensational putting. On the first hole which is a 327-yard one young Trainor smote a hefty shot and it stopped quite a little distance beyond the green and was good for about 330 or 350 yards. This is the first time since the many course has been opened that such a feat has been performed. Trainor took a birdie 3 for the hole, against a 4 par by his opponent, Art Prioletti, whose great performance yesterday was only overshadowed by Trainor's brilliant 74, the young mump player taking a 79, five over par, for the 18 holes.

Sensational Putting

On the final hole, the 18th, Trainor also ended in sensational fashion, his drive was on the green and he sank a putt about 35 feet for a birdie 2. Bill Long was the next best shot. The Field club presented. This youngster, who is destined to get somewhere in the golfing world, turned in an 80 for the match. William "Bill" Nunn had the next best score with 81. Long shot par golf the second time when he reached the last hole when he was forced to take a 4.

Molesworth won the only match for the municipal team, beating Dr. Cooper 5 and 3. Molesworth had an 82 against an 88 for Cooper. Hackett Kennedy shot an 88 to the Professor McKee with an 86, the players being even on the number of holes won and lost, even though McKee had the best total score. Kennedy sunk a beautiful putt to tie.

Trainor's card of 74 included three birdies and a flock of par figures. The 616-yard 6 par which he shot in five and one on the short 16th green in a 2, and also on the No. 2 hole which he played in a

FROM TEE TO GREEN

BOBBY JONES—START AND FINISH

By ROY GROVE

Central Press Golf Writer

IF YOU LOOK like a golfer there is no reason why you should not be a good golfer.

You can stand on the first tee and watch a golfing swing, or notice the grip on the club, and tell in a flash whether that player is scoring low or running into the hundreds.

In other words, if you see a good swing and finish you will always expect that player to score.

If that theory is true, then why is it not possible for you to practice that swing and then start hitting?

It is not only possible, but probable.

Jones, for instance, starts his swing back and starts it down in the same manner. He puts no pressure in the stroke that would throw him off balance.

That is also true in finishing. Jones under no circumstance, would finish off balance. His feet never leave the spot where he was standing when he took his stance. Thus the weight goes to the left leg and on up into the sky with his hands and arms.

On your backswing get your back around to the hole and when finishing get that your body is facing the hole. The hitting is all done between these two motions and the club is supposed to do that hitting.

When Jones hits he sweeps, and the wrists and forearms do the hitting. Not the shoulders or the hips. Concentrate on the wrist action and let the body follow the shot.

Avoid letting the wrist break until you are half way down to the ball, then throw your right hand at the hole.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Joe Frisco, stuttering comedian, pointed to 'Bugs' Baer:

"T-t-t-take one look at him!" said Joe, "and see what th' Well Dressed Man is th-th-th-throwin' away this season!"

FLEETING FAME

The bunch around the table in the Amen Corner at Calamity Burke's place were talking about Fame.

A drunk from an adjoining table staggered over.

"Which one of you ever heard th' name o' th' guy who thought up th' Walk-a-Mile slogan?" he inquired.

None of us ever had heard it.

"Wa-a-a!" drawled the drunk, sarcastically, "that's Fame!"

"Obey that impulse and give this little girl a big hand," read the classified ad "Leaving for Hollywood at once. Must sacrifice beautiful furnishings, little three-room apartment. Not a scratch on the piano or a chip out of any of the Chippendales. No reasonable offer refused."

I showed the advertisement under the reticent nose of Longacre Lil, craving comment.

"Th' same old story," sighed Lil, massaging her scalp with the far end of her jade cigarette holder. "After three months on th' coast she'll be back writin' another ad. Instead of 'Give this little girl a big hand,' it will be 'Give this little girl an active scrubbing brush!'"

I told her I thought she was hard "got to be," she replied, "in order to pay for th' hot groceries!"

WHEEL

To the man or woman who thinks there are no more thrills left in life. The Pastor recommends a 20-minute spin up Third avenue during the home-rush hour, in the rear seat of a taxicab, manipulated by a cokesniffin' cowboy chauffeur.

Five minutes of waving in and out most. But 20 minutes is a complete dose. At the end of that time if you're not in shape for the rest cure, you're hopeless.

Picnic Event At Edenburg

Sunday School And Ladies
Missionary Society Join
For Affair

OTHER NEWS OF EDENBURG AREA

Members of the Edenburg Christian Sunday school and the Ladies Missionary society joined for the purpose of a picnic supper Wednesday evening, August 6, at L. I. Toy's picnic retreat. There was an abundance of good things to eat, in evidence, as well as a goodly number of people present to do justice to them. The supper was enjoyed by every one. After a short period of social conversation, Shert F. D. Coates called the gathering to order and presented testimonials to Dorothy Hoffmeister, Jessie Morrow, Alice Mack, Betty Jean Mack, and Helen Ormovich, in recognition of their regularity in attendance during the Pentecostal campaign. An informal program was enjoyed by all in which one of the oldest members of the church, Mrs. Percella Standley joined in the Mrs. Nichols and Fred Standley in favoring the group with several readings. After a period of group singing, a vote of thanks was given to Mr. Toy for the use of his picnic grounds. The group then disbanded after an evening of real pleasure. Out of town guests who formed in the fellowship were: Mrs. Ebbie Niece, and Mrs. Mattie McCreary of Lowellville, Ohio, and Fred Standley of New Castle.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Supreme Court Justice Witschler didn't say what it was, but he said it wasn't golf that was being played on the miniature courses that fill the districts of the United States from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

He ruled today that a miniature course proposed for a White Plains residential district didn't come under the provision of the zoning laws which permit a golf course in the section.

He made his decision in a test case brought by a real estate company which had been denied permission to erect a club house on a lot where it proposed to install one of the "golf" courses.
